NOVEMBER 5, 2010, 9:30 AM-4:45 PM, KALMANOVITZ APPELLATE COURTROOM

RSVP BY OCTOBER 28, 2010

Ongoing improvements in DNA sequencing technology and the increasing availability of bio-banked materials are converging to create advanced personalized medicine diagnostics and treatments that offer the promise of improved outcomes and lower healthcare costs. Fenwick & West and UC Davis School of Law will host a panel of distinguished experts to discuss an array of issues and challenges in the emerging field of personalized medicine. Professionals, entrepreneurs, executives, and students in law, management, environmental sciences, engineering, and other related fields are invited to attend this important symposium to garner the knowledge required to skillfully and successfully navigate this evolving landscape.

This symposium is the third in a series of Fenwick & West sponsored Lectures in Technology, Entrepreneurship, Science, and the Law. RSVP here.

The Sacramento Estate Planning Council's Technical Forum

JANUARY 6, 2011, 7:30 AM – 6 PM

This forum is for estate planning professionals in the Sacramento region and students are welcome to attend any, or all, of the Forum. You must register in advance by contacting Raquel Altavilla, 916.715.5939 or raltavilla@comcast.net.

As one of Northern California's premier professional organizations, the Sacramento Estate Planning Council \(SEPC\) provides a forum where diverse professionals share information about the constantly changing field of estate planning. The Council's sterling reputation attracts more than 150 high-level estate planning professionals to its Technical Forum yearly. If you market to attorneys, accountants, financial planners, investment and insurance professionals, valuation experts or professional fiduciaries, sponsorship of the SEPC Technical Forum should be considered a critical component of your marketing mix.

Also, the Council will be hosting five dinner meetings between now and April. Students are welcome at the dinner meetings as well, though you will need a member of the Council to host them. If you are interested, you can visit the Council's website and discuss their attendance with Raquel Altavilla, 916.715.5939 or raltavilla@comcast.net.
