HAPPY NEW YEAR!

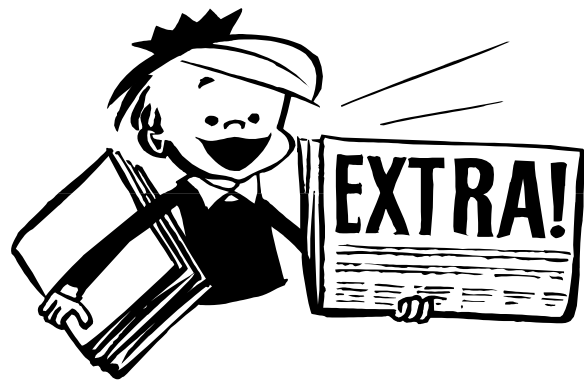

JANUARY 2005

FACULTY UPDATES

DIANE AMANN, teaching at UCLA this year, recently published articles and chapters in the International Journal of Constitutional Law, Global Governance and International Legal Theory, Hastings Journal of International and Comparative Law, and Encyclopedia of Genocide and Crimes Against Humanity.

Diane was a panelist on the International Law Section program at the 2005 AALS annual meeting and, last fall, made paper presentations at the University of Pennsylvania, Michigan, UCLA, and Washington law schools. She was named to the Board of Advisors of the National Institute of Military Justice and to the Executive Committee of the AALS International Law Section.

ANDREA BJORKLUND discussed international dispute resolution with representatives of the California Dried Fruit Association and its European trading partners. In October, she spoke on NAFTA at the International Law Association's International Law Weekend. Andrea presented a paper at the International Legal Studies Roundtable at Boalt Hall.

Last fall, CAROL BRUCH, visiting at the UCLA Center on the Study of Women, attended a meeting of the Board of Editors of the American Journal of Comparative Law. She presented a family law paper to the UCLA law faculty and submitted comments on a California Law Revision proposal concerning statutes of limitations in family law cases. Carol's article "The Unmet Needs of Domestic Violence Victims in Hague Child Abduction Cases," appeared in a book published by the University of Lyon (France) and in expanded form in the Family Law Quarterly.

In September, ANUPAM CHANDER and MADHAVI SUNDER traveled to Brazil to present their paper "The Romance of the Public Domain," at a symposium co-sponsored by the Escola Superior Do Ministerio Publico (ESMP) and Universidade do Vale do Rio dos Sinos (UNISINOS). The Emory Law Journal published Anupam's paper "Odious Securitization." He presented his paper "Globalization and Distrust" at the Boalt Hall International Law Workshop and at a Yale Law Journal symposium. Over the winter break, Madhavi and Anupam conducted field research in India.

JOEL DOBRIS published "Speculations on the Idea of 'Speculation' in Trust Investing: An Essay" in the Real Property, Probate & Trust Law Journal. He was quoted, along with colleagues from Yale and Boalt Hall, in two Contra Costa Times articles on estate planning.

At the 2005 AALS annual meeting, HOLLY DOREMUS presented a paper on "Science Plays Defense: Natural Resource Management in the Bush Administration" as part of the Natural Resources Law Section Program. She recently spoke (1) at the annual meeting of the ABA Section on Environment, Energy and Resources; (2) at Stanford's International Sustainability Days as a keynote speaker; (3) at a public lands conference at the University of Montana; and (4) at a NOAA Fisheries Science Review Panel. Holly published a book review in Conservation Biology. She was quoted in Legal Affairs, and BioScience, the journal of the American Institute of Biological Sciences.

CHRIS ELMENDORF published "Securing Ecological Investments on Other People's Land: A Transaction Costs Perspective," in a symposium issue of the Natural Resources Journal.

The Chinese Working Group on the Revision of the Criminal Procedure Code will publish FLOYD FEENEY's paper "Recent Developments in American Criminal Procedure." A book entitled One Case--Two Systems: A Comparative View of American and German Criminal Justice that Floyd wrote with Joachim Herrmann (Augsburg) has been accepted for publication in both English and Chinese.

BOB HILLMAN published the 2004 edition of The Revised Uniform Partnership Act. He joined the Advisory Board of the SSRN Journal on Partnerships and Unincorporated Business Entities and was quoted in an ABA Journal article on the role of partnership agreements in law firms. Bob lectured on "Are We Global Yet?" to the Davis Rotary Club. His treatise on Lawyer Mobility was translated and published in China. In November, the California State Senate Rules Committee appointed BILL HING to the Commission on the Fair Administration of Justice that will study the administration of criminal justice in California. His essay "Operation Gatekeeper: The War Against the Alambristas of the 1990s," was published in Alambrista and the U.S.-Mexico Border. In December, Bill debated a Federation for American Immigration Reform official on undocumented migration, at Pomona College. Bill's book Defining America Through Immigration Policy was featured in the campus authors celebration at Shields Library. Bill was a panelist on the AALS Immigration Law Section Guestworker Program at the 2005 annual meeting.

ED IMWINKELRIED published articles in The Champion, National Law Journal, Dublin University Law Journal, and Baylor Law Review. He also published Pretrial Discovery: Strategies and Tactics, Scientific Evidence (3d ed.), Courtroom Criminal Evidence (Vols. 1-2, 3rd ed.), and Exculpatory Evidence: The Accused's Constitutional Right to Introduce Favorable Evidence (3d ed.). Ed was quoted in a September 2004 ABA Journal article about bullet evidence. He appeared at continuing legal education programs in Atlanta, Boston, and St. Louis.

ELIZABETH JOH, after successfully defending her dissertation, was awarded a first doctorate from the Institute for Law and Society at NYU. Her article "The Paradox of Private Policing" was published in the Journal of Criminal Law (Northwestern). This spring, the Utah Law Review will publish Elizabeth's article on private policing. Elizabeth was a panelist on the Criminal Justice program at the 2005 AALS annual meeting.

KEVIN JOHNSON published symposium contributions in Constitutional Commentary, Michigan State Law Review, Florida Journal of International Law, and Ethnicities, and a chapter in Anti-Terrorist Measures and Human Rights (2004), and commentary in the Boston Review. Kevin recently presented papers at the University of Houston Law Center, Western History Association Conference, and Second National People of Color Legal Scholarship Conference (George Washington). At the 2005 AALS annual meeting, Kevin appeared on a panel sponsored by the Civil Procedure and Minority Groups Section. Hispanic Outlook and Perspectives on Political Science reviewed his latest book.

TOM JOO published “Race, Corporate Law, and Shareholder Value” in the Journal of Legal Education.

CARLTON LARSON was interviewed on KOVR (Sacramento) news about a proposed constitutional amendment to eliminate the requirement that the President of the United States be a native born citizen.

AL LIN presented a paper at the Asian Pacific American Law Faculty conference at Michigan State law school and participated in a panel discussion at U.C. Davis on the Supreme Court's recent environmental law decisions.

ROB MIKOS soon will publish “Enforcing State Law in Congress's Shadow” in the Cornell Law Review and “The (Legal) Value of Chance” in the American Law and Economics Review. He received a grant from the Time-Sharing Experiments for the Social Sciences organization, to support his research on “The Impact of Federalism on Citizen Support for Action.”

ANGELA ONWUACHI-WILLIG will soon publish pieces in the Michigan Law Review and the Arizona Law Review. Angela presented a paper at the Second Annual National People of Color Legal Scholarship conference at George Washington law school, where she also commented on “Balancing Family, Professionalism, and Promotion.” The Chicago Tribune published Angela's op/ed on Justice Clarence Thomas as the next Chief Justice; the Wall Street Journal's listed her commentary on its “Best of the Web Today” site. Angela was profiled in the Women Lawyers of Sacramento newsletter. She gave a talk on diversity issues at Grinnell and was a panelist on the U.C. Davis Cross Cultural Center's roundtable discussion of the low number of Black men in higher education.

AMAGDA PÉREZ and DAN TORRES wrote an article for the AILA California Chapter's conference handbook. In November, Amagda made a presentation on the “good moral character” requirement for naturalization at the AILA California Annual conference.

The U.C. Davis Law Review will publish LISA PRUITT's article “A Kinder, Gentler Law School? Race, Ethnicity, Gender, and Legal Education at King Hall.”

CRUZ REYNOSO held a series of Boochever & Bird dinners for first year law students. He will chair a commission formed to investigate alleged mistreatment of Yolo County farmworkers. Cruz participated on a panel at the Democratic Caucus' Hispanic Leadership Summit in Washington, D.C. He gave the keynote speech at the Gala Dinner of the Inland Empire Latino Lawyers Association. After twelve years of service, Cruz resigned as Vice Chair of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.

DONNA SHESTOWSKY published “Procedural Preferences in Alternative Dispute Resolution: A Closer, Modern Look at an Old Idea,” in Psychology, Public Policy & Law.

In October, MADHAVI SUNDER delivered the Women and Development Lecture at Ohio State. She presented a work-in-progress as part of the IP and Technology speakers’ series at Boalt Hall and to the law faculty at Ohio State. In November, Madhavi participated in an interdisciplinary working group on “cultural heritage licenses,” which will design creative commons licenses to facilitate the sharing of traditional knowledge, folklore, academic research, and other cultural content.

MARTY WEST’s comments on Theresa Beiner’s book on Sexual Harassment Law were included on the book jacket.

In September, CAPPY WHITE gave the Civil Rights Update at the Ninth Circuit Pro Se Law Clerk Case Management Conference. He was pro bono co-counsel in Reyes-Reyes v. Ashcroft, 384 F.3d 782 (9th Cir. 2004), an asylum case. In November 2004, a federal court awarded the Civil Right Clinic attorneys’ fees in a class action lawsuit brought on behalf of Muslim inmates in California state prison. In recent months, Cappy was quoted in articles in the Sacramento Bee, Daily Journal, and San Francisco Chronicle.

TOBIAS WOLFF published “Political Representation and Accountability Under Don’t Ask, Don’t Tell,” in the Iowa Law Review. He presented a paper at the University of Pennsylvania law school, which will appear in the University of Pennsylvania Law Review. Tobias is serving as a consultant in a lawsuit challenging the U.S. military’s “Don’t Ask, Don’t Tell” policy.

Associated Press quoted BRUCE WOLK in a story about a pension case involving IBM.

DICK WYDICK received the Golden Pen Award from the Legal Writing Institute and the Association of Legal Writing Directors at the 2005 annual meeting at the AALS. The award recognizes Dick’s best-selling book Plain English for Lawyers. Dick was recently quoted on ethics issues in the ABA Journal E-Report and the California Bar Journal.
