NOTES:

Guidelines for the Law School Writing Requirement:

The paper is an individually authored work of rigorous intellectual effort of at least 20 typewritten, double spaced pages, excluding footnotes... (Reg 1.4C). The professor must review and comment on at least one draft, and the student must re-write the paper in accordance with the professor's comments. The professor may establish additional requirements, such as submission of outlines, bibliographies and/or exchange of multiple drafts.

Guidelines for Professional Skills Requirement:

Students are required to complete one or more course(s), totaling at least six units, designated as satisfying instruction in professional skills. Skills courses are noted with the following symbol on the course schedule: §

Semesters in Residence:

Students are required to complete at least six semesters as a full-time student at an ABA approved Law School. For students attending King Hall, full-time status equates to enrollment in ten or more units each semester.

King Hall Programs:

Courses completed as part of the following programs are counted toward standard classroom units and are not included in the limits on elective units and/or transfer units:

- King Hall Study Abroad (full semester study abroad)
 - King Hall Clinical Programs

Transfer Units: (limit of 30-31 units)

- Courses taken at another ABA approved law school are counted as "transfer units".
- Some transfer units may be counted as elective units if the units taken at the host school include elective/non-classroom coursework.
